

PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION POLICY

La Red Nacional de Mujeres, RNM, with address at Calle 59 bis #8-38, Colombia, RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TREATMENT of your data, informs the interest groups and, in general, those who have provided their data to RNM, or that in the future provide their data, the content of the internal policy for the treatment of personal information established by the Colombian legal system.

This policy is divided into the following parts:

1. OBJECTIVE
2. GENERAL PRINCIPLES
3. DEFINITIONS
4. PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING
5. PURPOSES ASSOCIATED WITH PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING
6. RIGHTS OF HOLDERS
7. DUTIES OF RNM, RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA
8. AUTHORIZATIONS AND CONSENT
9. REVOCATION OF THE AUTHORIZATION
10. MEANS OF CONTACT
11. ANNEX: PRIVACY POLICY FOR THE VIDEO GAME "WOMEN PROGRESS TOWARDS PEACE"

This policy aims to define RNM's internal policy for the treatment of personal information, to guarantee compliance with the law, and to exercise the rights of habeas data.

According to the Colombian political constitution, "everyone has the right to their personal and family privacy and their good name, and the State must respect them and make others respect them. In the same way, those providing their data have the right to know, update and rectify the information collected about them in data banks and the files of public and private entities (...)." (Right of habeas data).

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

RNM will apply the specific principles established below, which constitute the rules to follow in the collection, management, use, treatment, storage, and exchange of personal data:

Principle of legality regarding data processing. The treatment referred to in the abovementioned law is a regulated activity that must be subject to what is established in it and other provisions developing it.

Principle of purpose. The treatment must obey the Constitution's and the law's legitimate purpose and be informed to the owner.

Principle of freedom. The treatment can only be exercised with the owner's prior, expressed, and informed consent. Personal data may not be obtained or disclosed without prior authorization or without a legal or judicial mandate that relieves consent.

Principle of veracity or quality. The information subject to treatment must be accurate, complete, exact, updated, verifiable and understandable. Processing partial, incomplete, fractional, or misleading data is prohibited.

Principle of transparency. In the treatment of information, the right of the owner to obtain from the person in charge of the treatment at any time and without restrictions information about the existence of data that concerns them must be guaranteed.

Principle of access and restricted circulation. The treatment is subject to the limits that derive from the nature of the personal data, the provisions of Law 1581, and the Constitution. In this sense, the treatment can only be done by persons authorized by the owner and those provided for in this law. Except for public information, personal data may not be available on the Internet or other means of dissemination or mass communication unless access is technically controllable to provide restricted knowledge only to authorized owners or third parties.

Principle of safety. The information subject to treatment by the person in charge must be handled with the necessary technical, human, and administrative measures to grant security to the records, avoiding their adulteration, loss, consultation, use, or unauthorized or fraudulent access.

Principle of confidentiality. The persons involved in processing personal not public in nature, are obliged to guarantee the confidentiality of the information, even after the end of their relationship with any of the tasks included in the treatment. They may only supply or communicate personal data when it corresponds to the development of authorized activities.

DEFINITIONS

By decree 1377, 2013, the definitions to be taken into account are:

Privacy notice: verbal or written communication generated by the person in charge, addressed to the owner for the treatment of their data, by which they are informed about the existence of the information treatment policies that will apply to them, the way to access them and the purposes of the treatment that is intended to be given to personal data.

Public data: It is data that is not semi-private, private, or sensitive. Public data is considered, among others, data relating to the marital status of people, their profession or trade, and their quality as public servant. Due to its nature, public data may be contained, among others, in public records, public documents, official gazettes and bulletins, and duly executed court rulings that are not subject to confidentiality.

Sensitive data: sensitive data is information about the private life of the owner or whose improper use may generate discrimination, such as information revealing racial or ethnic origin, political orientation, religious or philosophical convictions, membership of unions, social organizations, human rights, or that promote the interests of any political party or that guarantee the rights of political opposition, as well as data related to health, sexual life, and biometric data.

Transfer: transfer of data takes place when the person in charge of processing personal data, located in Colombia, sends the information or personal data to a recipient, who in turn is responsible for the treatment and is located inside or outside of the country.

Transmission: treatment of personal data that implies the communication of the information inside or outside the territory of Colombia when its purpose is to carry out treatment by the manager on behalf of the person in charge.

PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING

By the law, RNM:

1. Will capture information such as identification, names, surnames, location of residence and business address, email account, cell phone number, address, and city, as well as information related to images, photographs, and videos, among others.

2. The information will be used for the purposes identified in the privacy notice that the personal data owner has authorized in an express, free, informed, and transparent manner.

3. The information will be shared with allies with whom joint work is carried out or third parties that require the information to guarantee the operation of RNM.

4. Personal data from social networks: Facebook; Instagram; Twitter; LinkedIn, among others, are independent legal entities and are, therefore, not under the responsibility of RNM. Whenever personal data is used in these social networks, prior, informed, and express consent must be requested from each owner.

Treatment of sensitive data: in these cases, special attention will be implemented, and its responsibility will be reinforced when processing this data type.

Treatment of data of minors and adolescents: this type of data will be processed in the best interest of children and adolescents, making sure to respect fundamental rights and, to the extent possible, counting on the opinion of the owners of the data and considering: (i) maturity; (ii) autonomy; (iii) ability to understand the purpose of the treatment; (iv) understanding of the consequences of the treatment.

The general purposes in the processing of personal data in RNM are:

1. To establish and manage the pre-contractual and contractual commercial, labor, civil, and any other relationship that arises by compliance with a legal or contractual obligation by the RESPONSIBLE entity.

2. Respond to requests, queries, claims, and complaints made by the holders of personal information through any of the enabled channels the RESPONSIBLE ENTITY has made available.

3. To transfer or transmit personal data to entities and judicial and administrative authorities when required about its purpose and necessary for fulfilling its functions.

The specific purposes that will be applied to the processing of personal data will be informed in the privacy notice provided by the entity in which, in advance, the particular purposes and treatment that will be carried out will be notified.

Notice: we do not have lucrative, commercial, or advertising purposes within our content. Our content is educational and informative, and it is the intellectual property of RNM.

RIGHTS OF THE HOLDERS

The owner of personal information has the right to:

- Know and access personal data processed.
- Update personal data processed.
- Rectify personal data processed.
- Suppress the authorization for the processing of personal data when the principles established in Law 1581, 2012, have not been respected in their processing.
- Request proof of the authorization granted for the processing of personal data.

Right to knowledge and access. Every person will have the right to know if their data has been processed by RNM in the terms expressed in the norm, in addition to exercising the right to see the origin of their data and if they have been assigned or not to third parties and, therefore, the identification of the assignees.

Right, to update. Every person will have the right to update the information kept by RNM as personal data in the terms expressed in the norm.

Rectification rights. Every person has the right to verify the accuracy and veracity of the data and request the rectification of personal data collected when it is inaccurate, incomplete, or leads to error. The information holders must indicate the data they ask to correct and accompany the documentation that justifies the request.

Request for deletion or cancellation of the data. The owner of the personal information must indicate the data that must be canceled or rectified, providing, if applicable, the documentation or proof that justifies it. The cancellation will result in the blocking of your data. The person in charge will keep the data to make it accessible to administrative or judicial authorities, always obeying the limitation period assigned. Once this period has elapsed, the person in charge must proceed to the definitive cancellation of the interested or affected party's personal information, which rests in our databases or files.

Likewise, the owner may request the deletion or cancellation of their data when their treatment by the person in charge is inadequate. The data of the information holders will be kept during the times provided in the applicable regulations and, depending on the case, of the contractual relations between the holder of the personal information and the person in charge of the treatment.

In any case, the request to delete the information and revoke the authorization will not proceed when the owner has a legal or contractual duty to remain in the database.

DUTIES OF RNM, RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA

RNM, responsible for the processing of personal data by the law, has the following duties:

- To guarantee the exercise of the right of habeas data.
- To request and preserve the exercise of the right of habeas data.
- To inform the owner about the purpose of the collection and the rights that assist them by the authorization granted.
- To preserve and safeguard personal information under the legal security conditions necessary to guarantee its integrity.
- To update the information, promptly communicate to the person in charge of the treatment all the news regarding the previously provided data and adopt the other necessary measures to keep the information provided up to date.
- To rectify the information when it is incorrect and communicate what is pertinent to the person in charge of the treatment of this information.

AUTHORIZATIONS AND CONSENT

By the law, the authorization is understood as the: "Prior, expressed and informed consent of the owner to carry out personal data processing," which is necessary for the collection, storage, use, circulation, or deletion of data by RNM.

The authorization may be given by any means or format that allows guaranteeing its subsequent consultation or through an appropriate technical or technological mechanism, which allows expressing or obtaining consent via a click or double click, through which it can be unequivocally concluded that, had the owner not acted, the data would never have been captured and stored in the database.

REVOCACTION OF AUTHORIZATION

The holders of personal data may revoke consent to processing their data at any time if a legal or contractual provision does not prevent it.

- The owner may revoke the authorization for all the consented purposes. RNM must completely stop processing the owner's data.
- The owner may revoke the authorization for specific data processing, such as advertising purposes.

CONTACT MEANS

The following contact information will be the means of communication through which the owners can make inquiries, complaints, claims, or requests:

Email: nacional@rednacionaldemujeres.org

Physical address: Calle 59 bis #8-83 Office 201

The previous means of contact are used without the affectation of RNM's faculty to establish additional contact mechanisms, which will be published or announced through its website.
